

Jago Pearson

I was delighted to join The Langton's Full Governing Body in March 2026 as the appointed Foundation Governor for the 1248 Society.

I left the school in 2010, having served as Deputy Head Boy and 1st XI cricket captain, and have remained closely involved since, through both my professional work and as captain of the Old Boys and MCC XIs that play the school annually.

I was chief strategy officer and latterly a non-executive director at the food producer Finnebrogue, prior to its sale to a multinational food group in 2025. Before that, I was director of special projects at a public relations and political campaigning agency in Westminster.

More recently, I have embarked on a portfolio career. My current roles include chairman of a global campaign to remove carcinogenic chemicals from food, senior adviser to a large FMCG manufacturer and distributor, and as a member of the advisory council of The Jobs Foundation.